

views: PCM - 1181

ETANG NEIGHBORHOOD IN VERNIER

The Etang neighborhood consists of 900 residential units for 2,500 inhabitants and 2,500 workplaces on former industrial wasteland. The site is particularly well-connected to public transport, the motorway network and the airport.

The aim is to produce a densely-populated, wooded town center that promotes friendly interaction between residents, with areas for administration, tradespeople, a school, a crèche, community associations and a commercial center with a hotel and restaurants. A continuous consultation process with all public and private stakeholders, including the Canton of Geneva, the town of Vernier and community associations, enabled the significant constraints of the project to be overcome within an efficient time frame.

CLIENT
PCM Opérateur Urbain SA

ARCHITECT
Dominique Perrault, Paris
(concept director), Favre & Guth,
AAG+, Groupe H, Geneva
Agence Ter (landscaping), Paris

TEKHNE SERVICES

Client assistance:
- coordination of project
development
- statutory procedures
- project programming
- preparation of execution works

DATE | COST
2012-2017
CHF >1 billion

DIMENSIONS
Gross floor area 248,000 m²

TEKHNE

