CERY PSYCHIATRIC CLINIC

The new psychiatric hospital was commissioned in two stages replacing the existing buildings which were demolished as work progressed. The hospital remained in use during the construction works without reducing its activities or jeopardizing security. The building accommodates four healthcare units in the upper levels connected by a story of common building services. Open, organically-shaped light shafts characterize the reception areas in the center of the hospital. The building meets the standards required for the Minergie-ECO label.
